

Our Own Creation

KARNATAKA STATE COUNCIL FOR SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY

A.R. Shivakumar

Principal Investigator - RWH

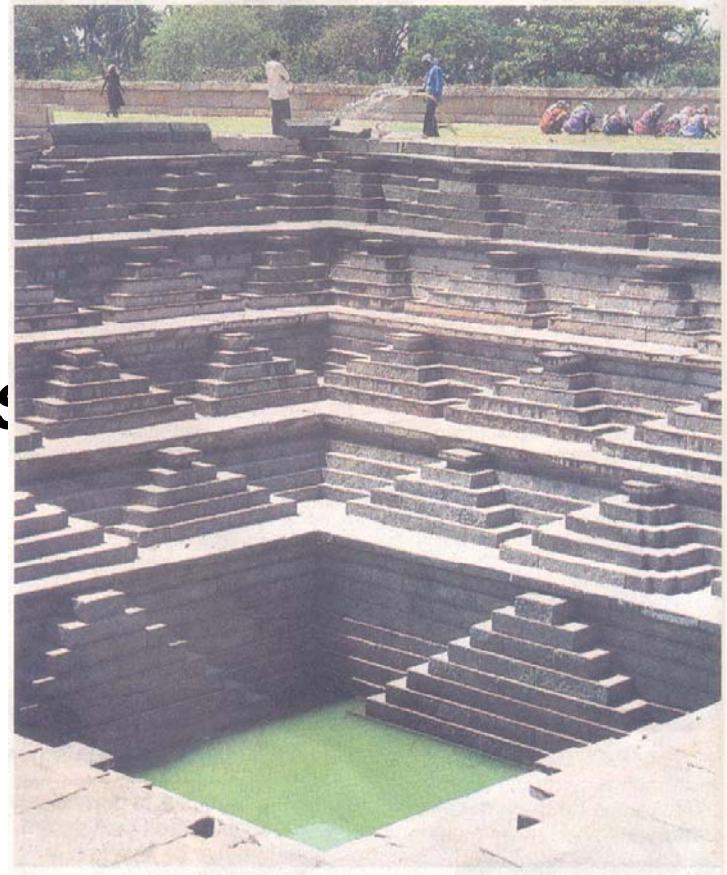

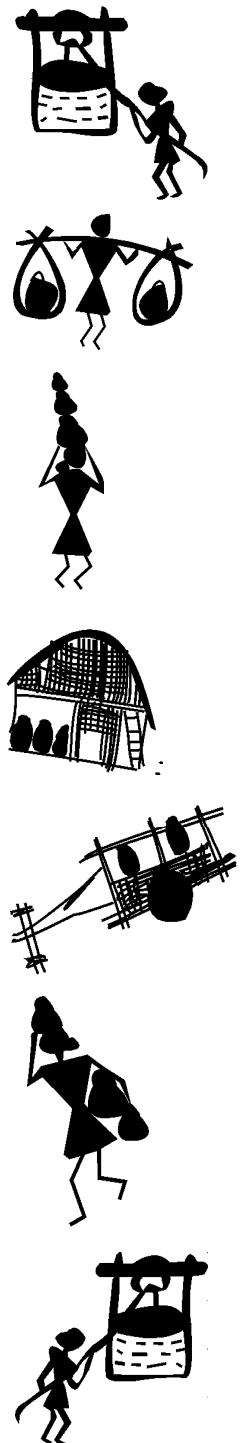

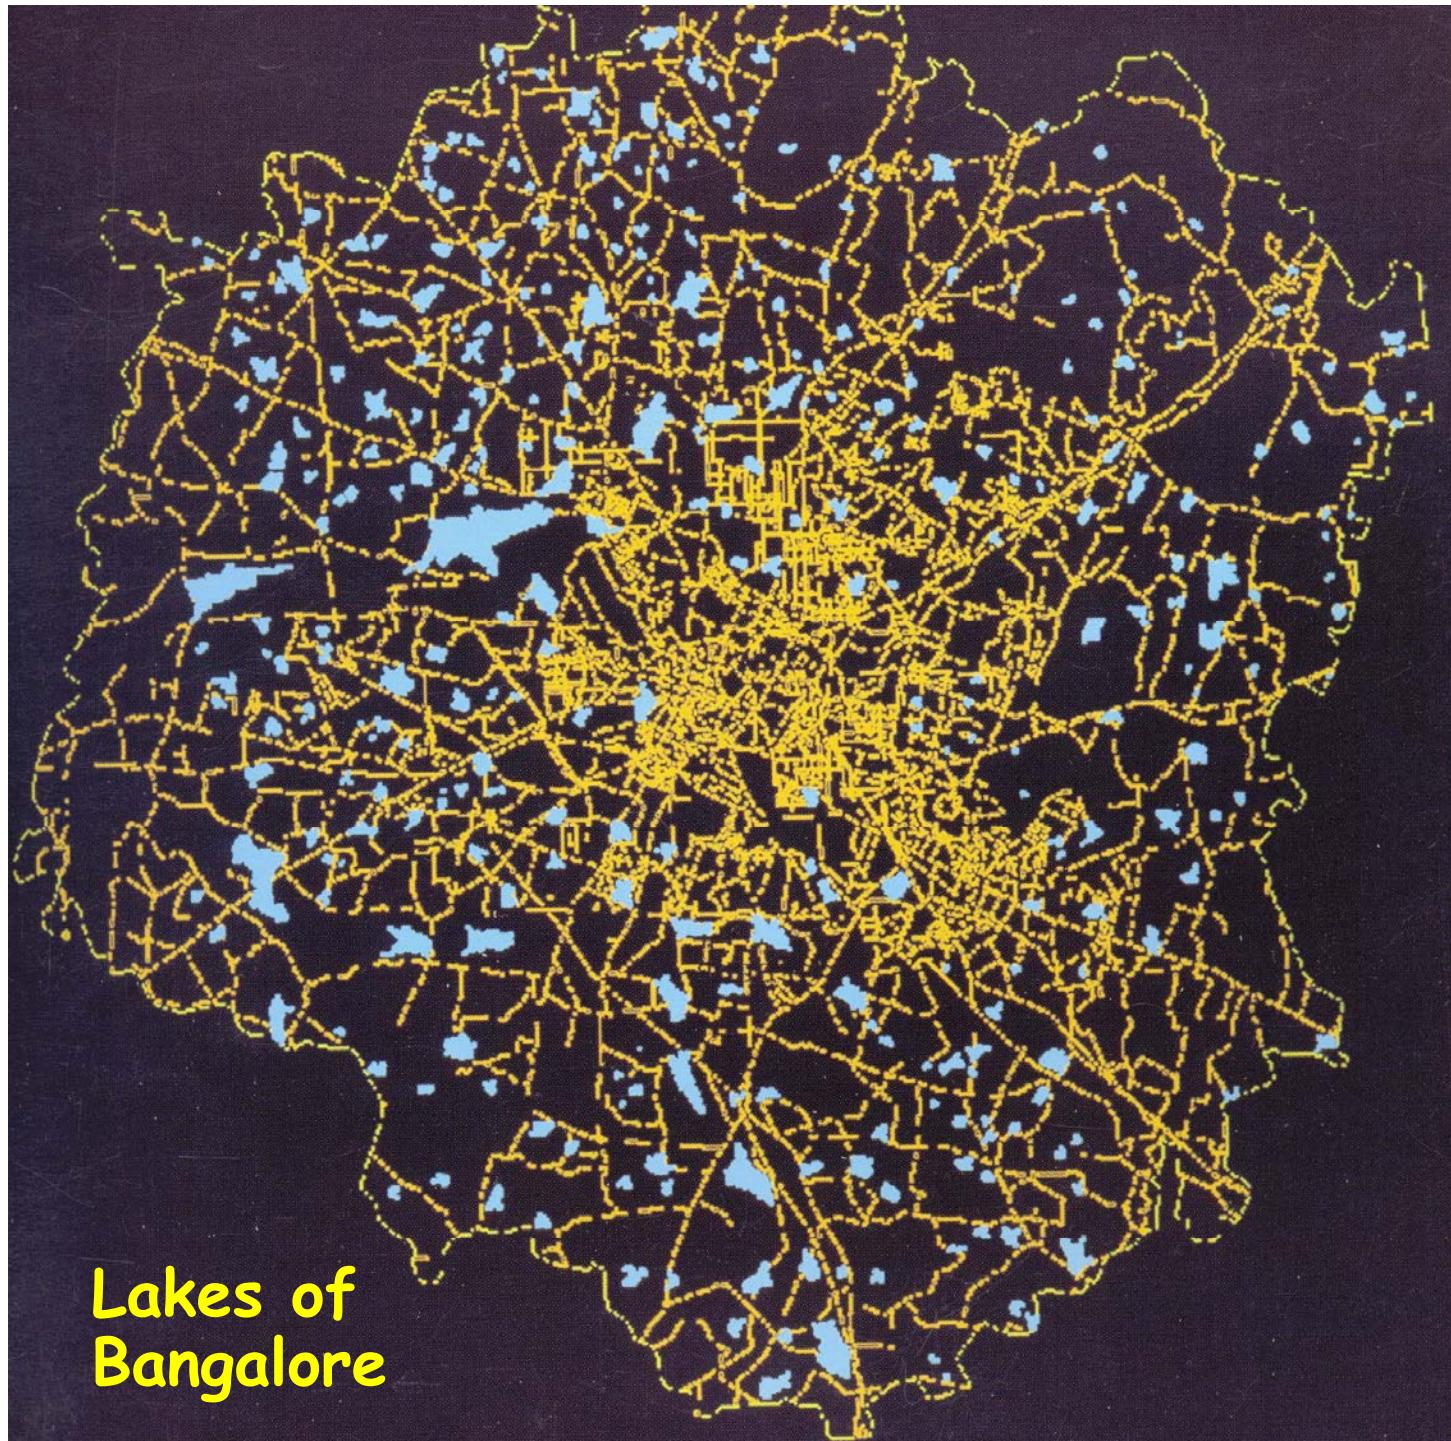

Open well

Open well

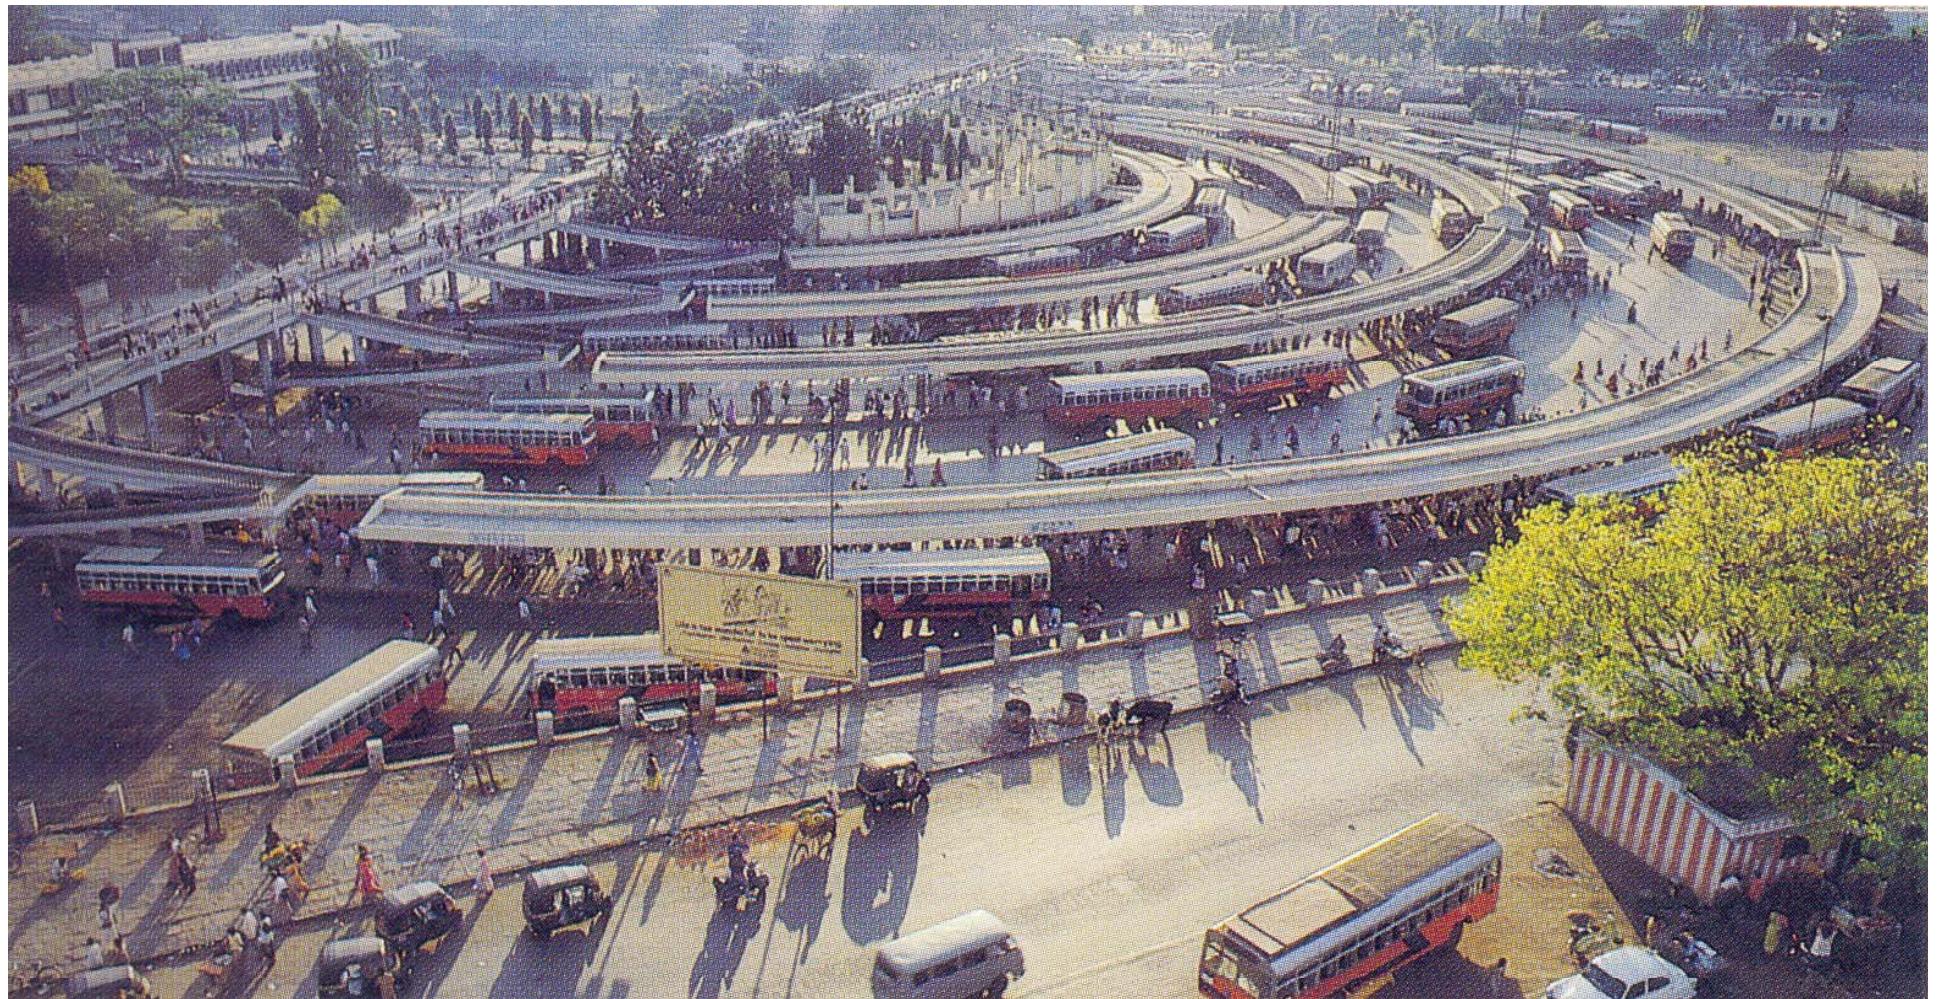

A Sports Stadium today, Sampangi Tank earlier

Koramangala Tank is today a Housing "Complex"

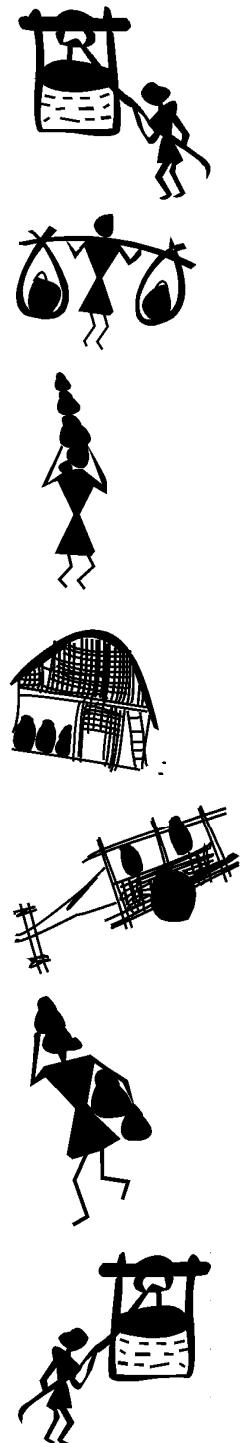

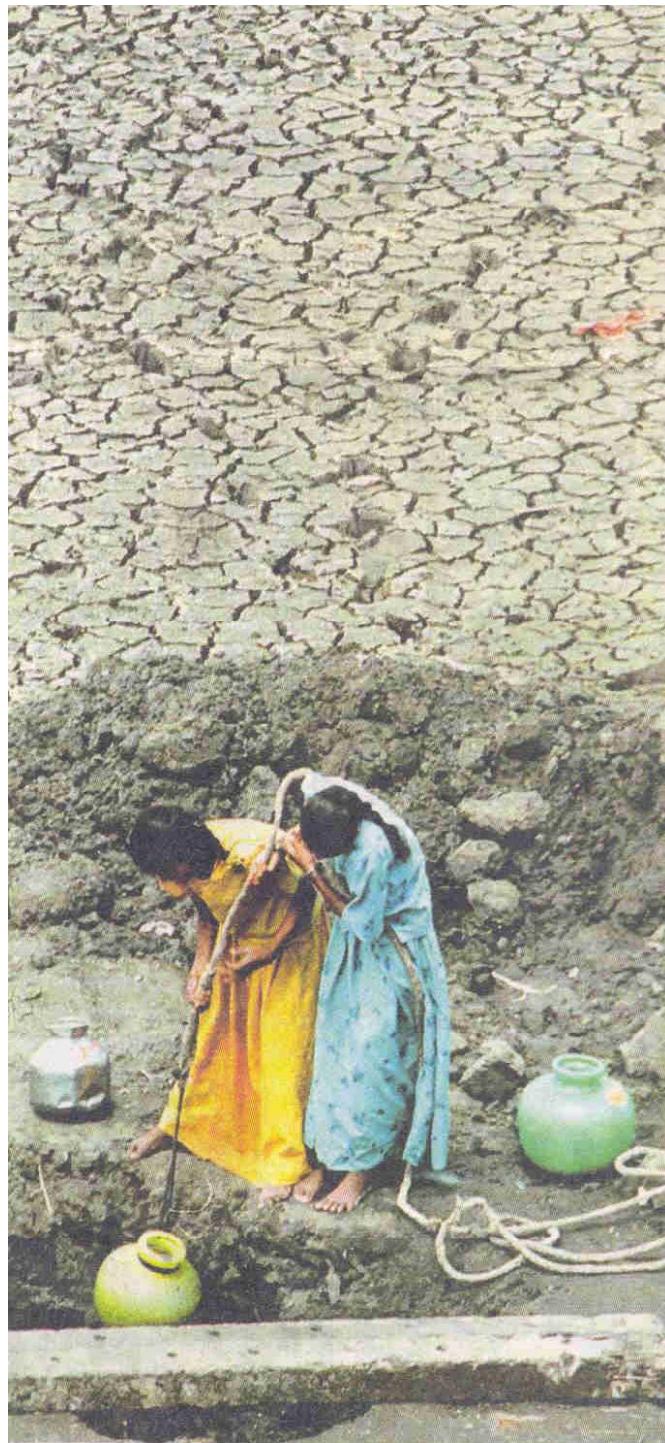

KGA Golf Course, Once Challaghatta Tank

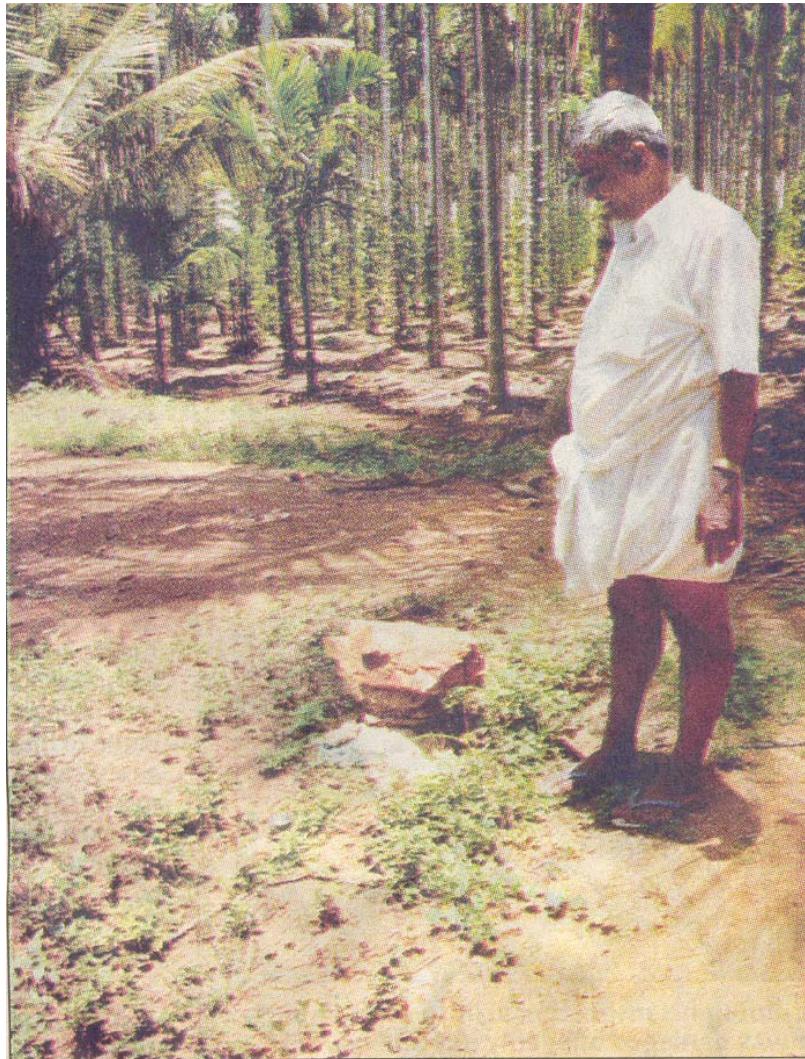

Bangalore City Bus Stand, Once Dharmambudhi Tank

News Paper
7th Sep 2004

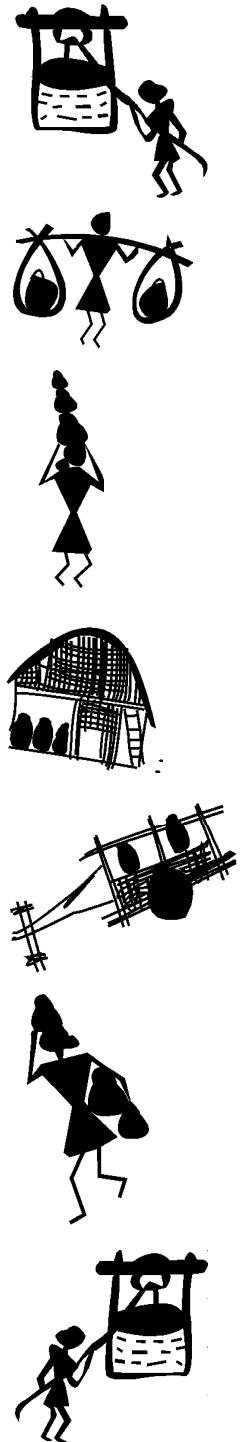

News Paper
5th May 2004

Sarji Chennabasappa looking at one of the failed borewells in his farm. Only 12 of the 350 borewells drilled in his land, contain water.

Well, man is the real culprit here

News Paper 28th May 2004

'Ghunge' for water in a village in Dang district

PH Photo by Oshar Kokade

News Paper April 2005

News Paper 28th July 2004

Oh sweet water!

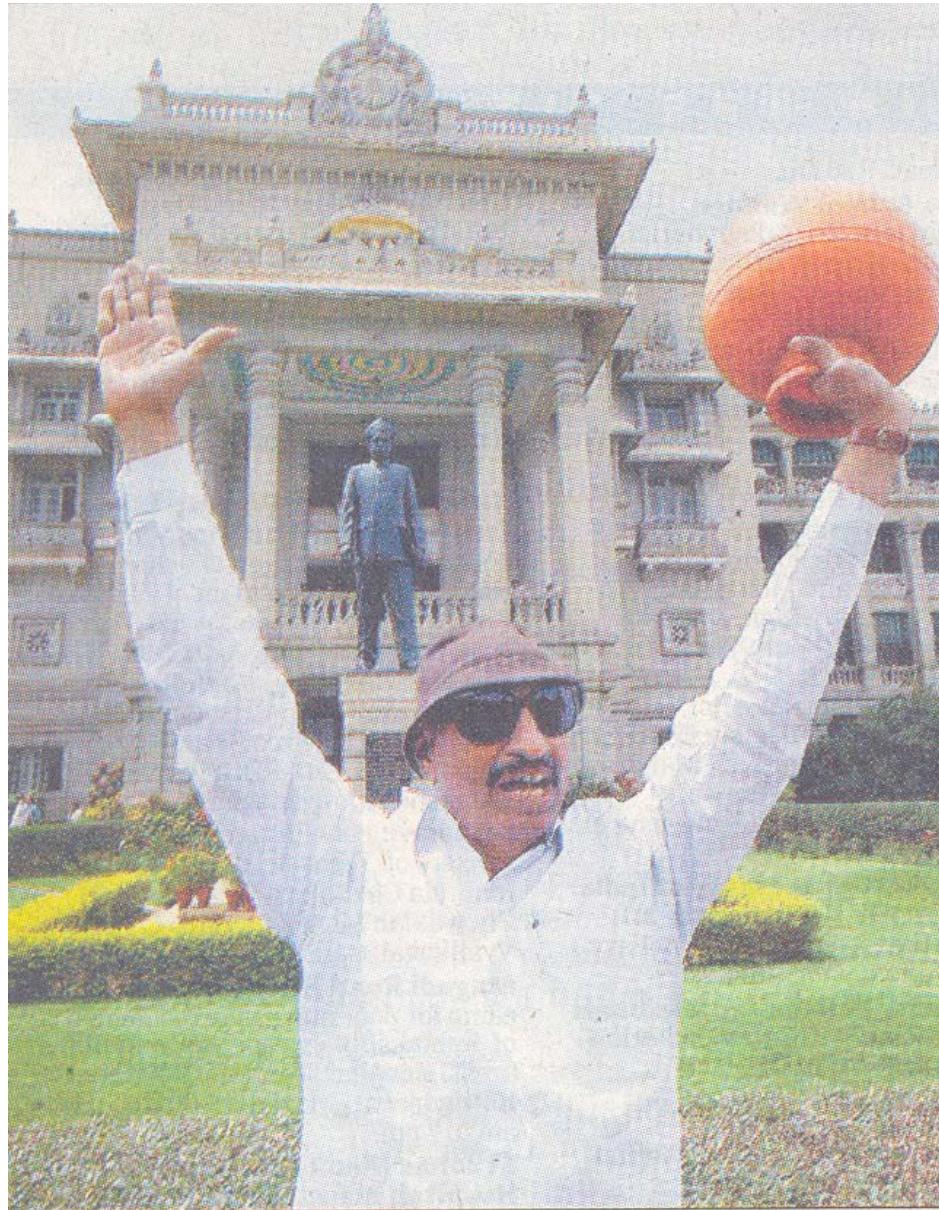

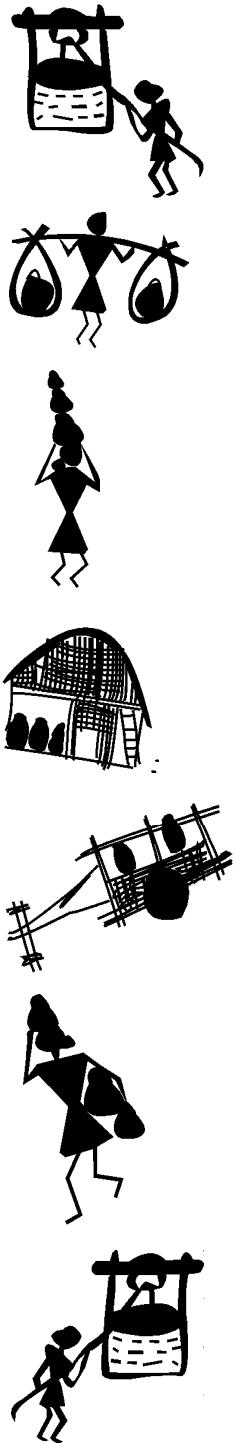

Sakaleshpura

News Paper
April 200

News Paper
28th July 2004

Water Vatal... Kannada Chalavali leader Vatal Nagaraj protesting in front of Vidhana Soudha in Bangalore on Tuesday demanding government to supply drinking water to border areas in Chamarajanagar.

BUSINESS AS USUAL: The puller and the passenger do not seem to be deterred by water all around in a street in Kolkata on Thursday. Three days of incessant rain in the West Bengal capital flooded most areas, disrupting normal life. — Reuters

DH photo/Anantha Subramanyam K

Rain story... A tsunami may not have struck Bangalore but it looked like it had. Many cars were seen stuck on Wednesday night following flash floods as rain came down in bucketsful. The Shivananda Circle subway bore testimony to the fury.

DH photo/S Eshwar

SINKING CITY

- Two more die in rain havoc
- Hosur Road completely submerged
- Water overflowing from seven lakes
- Traffic grinds to a halt
- As many as 166 low-lying areas flooded
- City receives 200 mm off rains in 36 hours

Hapless commuters consider coracles a better option to commute instead of motor vehicles on Hosur Road in Bangalore on Friday.

B'lore City in deep water

Are we not Responsible for this

Thank you

A.R. Shivakumar

Office : 23341652

Mobile : 98452 12314

www.kscst.iisc.ernet.in/rwh.html